Special Educational Needs (Information) Regulation

Annual Report 2021/22

All mainstream schools and maintained nursery schools are required by law to produce a Special Educational Needs Report on an annual basis, Special Educational Needs \(Information\) Regulations Clause 65. This should be made available on their website.

This template document has been co-produced by parents of children and young people with SEND in Buckinghamshire.

1. The type of SEND provision that the Aylesbury Vale Academy provides is mainstream.

The Aylesbury Vale Academy's Policy,

2. The Aylesbury Vale Academy's Policy (including pupils who do and do not have an EHC Plan) is as follows:

- Identifying and assessing pupils with SEND

All students attending Aylesbury Vale Academy are monitored and assessed regularly by their class teachers and support staff to ensure that they are making appropriate progress. In addition to this, students' interactions with others are observed to assess their social competency.

If it is evident that a student is experiencing ongoing barriers to learning and/or interaction despite quality first teaching and appropriate early intervention, a teacher may raise initial concerns with the SENDCo. Parents are also encouraged to raise initial concerns should they feel their child has an underlying learning need that is hampering progress. This can be achieved by emailing the SENDCo and completing the appropriate documentation listed on the Aylesbury Vale Academy website.

At this stage, the SENDCo will explore the effective implementation of a graduated approach to support and intervention for the student. This may include advice and suggestions of how the student can be more effectively included using differentiation strategies or a short term, measureable intervention with a clear target outcome. In these cases, a note will be made that the integrated SEN team are aware of the student and their progress will be reviewed at the next assessment point.

If the challenges faced by the student have not improved after the initial strategies/interventions have taken place, it may be necessary to consider allocating them SEN support status. At this stage, parents/guardians will be invited in to discuss this with the SENDCo. All concerns raised during this meeting are considered and strategies to support the student are agreed and documented on an Individual Provision Map (IPM). IPMs are reviewed with parents and students three times a year.

All staff have access to student IPMs, SEND Support Plans and EHCP documentation. These should be used when planning for progress.

In some cases, a student may continue to struggle to make progress in line with their peers. In such instances, it may be appropriate to seek assessment from outside agencies such as Paediatrics (2-4) or CAMHs (5+) for further exploration of need. For a small number of children (3.6% across England), it necessary to make an application for Higher Needs Funding or Educational Health Care Plan to the Local Authority. This will allow for more intensive intervention and further support from relevant outside agencies and accessibility to support staff.

- Evaluating the effectiveness of its provision for pupils with SEND

If it is considered necessary for a student to take part in an intervention, parents/guardians will fully informed of the reasoning behind this and anticipated outcome and next steps. Permission will be required if a child is under 16 years.

Interventions are short-term measures with a clear aim. Students included will participate in baseline and end point assessments. These interventions are planned to promote progress however, if this is not achieved, alternative measures will be explored – This may include further assessment.

At Aylesbury Vale Academy we approach provision using the 'Assess, Plan, Do, Review' process.

- Assessing and reviewing the progress of pupils with SEND Meetings to review SEND provision are held regularly, but at least three times each year with a representative from the SEN team. Despite the disruption of caused to Covid 19, these documents remain in place and are due for review in the second, fourth and sixth half term unless there is a new development or change in circumstance which requires an interim review.

IPMs include the advice of all professionals who have worked with the individual student or family, Student and parental/guardian views. At each review meeting, progress toward previous targets is evaluated and new targets are set.

Students with an EHCP are also entitled to an annual review in addition to the above. Again, these meetings involve parents, students where appropriate and any relevant outside agencies.

 - Differentiation to student's individual needs across the whole curriculum along with adapted resources as required
 - Scaffolding to support student independence
 - Curriculum adaptation, including small group intervention in the primary phase and smaller classes in English, Maths and Science at KS4
 - Advice and updates from specialists in order to establish and maintain a safe environment for students with a range of disabilities
 - Assessment for access arrangements where evidence suggests this may be appropriate
 - Access arrangements are honoured for both internal and external tests and exams where granted
 - Students are able to access their learning, either in school or remotely. This could include loaning of specialist equipment.
- With additional support for learning

Staff are provided with an extensive range of strategies to support differentiation in the classroom and receive regular updates and opportunities for training – both in house and externally. Regular lesson observations and learning walks are undertaken to ensure such strategies are being incorporated into lessons. All teachers implement the 'AVA taxonomy', which ensures a stepped approach to progress. A team of LSAs support students with their learning both within the classroom, and in small group intervention where this is felt appropriate.

Where remote learning is necessary, students have access to their key worker through Microsoft Teams from Years 5-11. Engagement is closely monitored and lack of engagement followed up through communication with parents and home visits where appropriate.

- Through activities that are available to pupils with SEND in addition to those available through the curriculum

Every student is encouraged to take part in normal school activities as well as extra-curricular clubs and sports. Where required, adaptations are made to ensure that all can participate fully and the student, their parents and, where necessary, external professionals are consulted in order to do enable this.

In Key Stage 4, the extended school day, enrichment and independent study, support in the generation and development of skills gained despite covid and allow further flexibility for appropriate intervention.

Adjustments to the curriculum take into account the specific difficulties encountered by the student and may involve (but are not limited to) adapted materials, modification of rules and times along with health and safety considerations. In some cases, it is necessary to create a bespoke timetable which incorporates time to address prescribed therapies or necessary skills. At all times, the Aylesbury Vale Academy will take reasonable measures to ensure that students are able to play a positive part in decisions when it comes to their inclusion.

The Aylesbury Vale Academy has access to a range of external professionals. Where appropriate, the Academy makes referrals to agencies such as Childhood and Adolescent Mental Health services Speech and Language, Occupational Therapy or Specialist Teaching Services. Prior to any referral parents will have been consulted to ensure that we are in agreement that this is an appropriate next step and to gain consent. The student concerned will also be given the opportunity to express their own feelings regarding a referral. If all parties are in agreement, the student's particular area of need will be discussed with the service to explain the reasons for the referral. Following a specialist assessment, the relevant service may provide a report detailing the support requirements to be built into the IPM or support plan. In consultation with students, parents/guardians and Key worker/SENDCo, the support plan and/or IPM will be updated and circulated to teaching staff so that they can implement the updated advice.

Where a specific provision is recommended in a small group, this too will be implemented however, may be necessary to ensure that staff delivering are adequately trained in advance to do so effectively.

undertake an assessment. Students/Parents/carers will be fully included in such discussions.
