11 January 2017

Dear Parent/Carer

The report of the Ofsted Inspection in November 2016 has been published and will be on the website from Monday, 16 January 2017 when it will be in the public domain.

Clearly, AVA has been and continues to be, operating in challenging circumstances. The primary, Berryfields CofE Primary School section of the school, has enjoyed success and continues to be in a good position to add strength to the all-through Academy.

Ofsted, in addition to the sponsors and Governors, are in total support of the Executive Principal and the leadership of the whole Academy in guiding the school to a better and brighter future by continuing their excellent school improvement work.

When you read the report, you should be mindful that comments relating to particular areas are not necessarily relevant to all parts of the school.

It is clear that all parts of the school need to work in unison to ensure the life chances of all the children and young people in the whole Academy are enhanced.

Parents/carers should be buoyed by the findings that the leadership across the Academy has 'conducted a thorough accurate and rigorous evaluation of the school'. Furthermore, behaviour is better, attendance is rising and the quality of teaching, learning and assessment is improving quickly.

Every parent/carers wants the best for their children and we are all totally focussed on raising standards; the focus on continuous school improvement has been, and will continue to be, relentless.

There is a great confidence in the extended leadership of the school in getting the job done and in continuing to improve every aspect of performance of the school.

I would like to thank the huge support of parents and carers who have shown their belief in improvements in various areas of the school and are completely behind the efforts to drive up standards. Staff, Parents, Carers, Governors and - not least - the children and young people, are committed to demonstrating continuous improvements and that is a really encouraging and motivating factor in building success.

The full report is available on the school website from 16 January 2017 and will also be on the Ofsted website.

Yours sincerely

MR R BURMAN
Executive Principal
